NAF WEEK 3: HEADLINES

Dead and Buried

The Champions of Death's good start to the season came crashing to a halt as the Vynheim Valkyries defeated them 3-1 at Pain Park. Hero of the day was Valkyries' Thrower Rudolf Runespear, who connected with Vinny Valhalla and Erik Redmist for several spectacular passes. That was good news for the Middenheim Marauders who beat the Iccastle Wolves 3-1. Their Thrower Gulden von Sulkhof had a field day and threw the AFC North race wide open again.

Evil Eyes

The Gouged Eye put their poor display against the Reavers last week behind them and ended the Worlds Edge Wanderers surprisingly good start to the season grinding them down in a block-fest to win 3-1. The Reikland Reavers remain in control of the AFC Central thanks to a Griff Oberwald hat-trick against the utterly hopeless Underworld Creepers.

Killers Killed

Morg'th Nh'throg was in top form in the top of the table clash between the AFC East leading Khain's Killers and Chaos All-Stars. A stunning opening drive saw Morg seriously injure 3 Dark Elves, after that, they were quite literally broken, the All-Stars ran out 3-0 winners.

Life After Lucien

In their first game since team captain Lucien Swift was crocked, the Galadrieth Gladiators saw off a spirited challenge from the Lustria Croakers. The game was finely balanced but the unusually boisterous atmosphere amongst the capacity crowd at the Eataine Coliseum gave the Gladiators the Edge, when Eldril Sidewinder made a crucial interception that set up the Elves to win 3-2.

Eastern Promise

The NFC East is looking to be an exciting title race this season. With the favourite Skaven Scramblers losing again both the Dwarf Warhammerers, the Creeveland Crescents won. The Crescents maintain the top spot after beating the Bluebay Crammers. The 3-2 score line flatters the Halflings, as they benefitted from two extraordinary aerial scores by Gambo Ranchstock, who was flung from the arm of the mighty Treeman Greybranch Oakwillow

Other Results

The Darkside Cowboys retained control of the NFC Central by thrashing the Scarcrag Snivellers; The Elfheim Eagles made a statement of intent by beating their bitter rivals the Dark Renegades to keep in touch in the race for the AFC West title.

GAME OF THE WEEK

WESTSIDE WEREWOLVES

3-1

SKAVEN
SCRAMBLERS

"Good evening, sports fans, Jim Johnson here. If you can hear howling in the background, don't panic, it's not the controller of ABC looking at last week's viewing figures, it's just the fans here at the Westside Werewolves home stadium celebrating a famous victory over the Skaven Scramblers. They're now 3-0 and top of the division. Bob, after a display like that, pundits are now going to have to take their title challenge seriously?!"

"Sure Jim, they're top dog in the AFC West now [chortle!]. I mean, all those years of being the underdog are completely forgotten now [snicker!]."

"Let's take a look at the key play of the game: Erik 'the Dog' Jorgsson's brutal tackle that maimed Skrit Silkpaw and caused a costly turnover deep in the Scramblers' backfield. How did the Werewolves get such good penetration, Bob?"

"Well, Jim, Jorgsson was 'hounding' the Scramblers' frontline all day [chuckle!]. Seriously though, he had a super game, he worked like a dog! [guffaw!]"

"This result leaves the Scramblers 1-2 and in a crisis. Coach Vytick the Many Headed is going to come in for some criticism for his tactics; his team looked totally confused by his play calling. Where'd he go wrong, Bob?"

"You know what they say Jim, two heads are better than one, but three's a crowd! [chuckle]"

"[Groan] Something like that, Bob, something like that."

MAKING A KILLING!

MANY NAF STARS ARE CASHING IN ON THEIR FAME AND STARTING LUCRATIVE SECOND CAREERS.

Sports KILLERSTRATED INVESTIGATES...

Ramtut III may be the fearsome captain of the Champions of Death and hold a host of league records, but did you know he's going to be making a new kind of record in 2490? Yes, the desiccated destroyer has invented a completely new genre of music called 'Wrapping'. Over the summer he played several festivals and received rave reviews. Talent scouts are now raiding tombs in Nehekhara hoping to uncover more Wrappers.

Ramtut is not an isolated case either, more and more of the NAF's star players are cashing in on their sporting fame by starting second careers in show business. Last summer, the Bluebay Crammers muscular lineman Arfie Shortzenegger moved to the enchanted Wood Elf realm of Holly Wood, hoping to make a name for himself as an actor, so far, though, he's only managed to co-found a restaurant called Plant-it Holly Wood.

This is all a far cry from the situation players faced only 20 years ago. Back then, the employment prospects for retired Blood Bowl players were unremittingly bleak. Most found themselves suffering painful injuries picked up during their playing days and others were left penniless, because, let's face it, as a Blood Bowler, you're only really qualified to do one thing, which is smash people's heads in- and, in the Old World, there's no shortage of homicidal maniacs who'll do all that, and more, for free!

Thankfully, all that has begun to change. As the wealth and popularity of the NAF has increased, so too has the visibility of the players. Also, due to some high-profile strikes, the players' guild has negotiated a new collective bargaining agreement with the league, which means even the most modest of linemen can now earn a decent salary.

Most of the league's stars are represented by agents (middlemen hired by the players to broker new contracts with the tight-fisted team owners), some of the more entrepreneurial agents have seen the potential of monetizing their client's fame by making forays into show business: Lucien Swift started the trend in 2479, when he released a record of himself reciting 200 stanzas of lyric poetry- it became a smash-hit for insomniacs the world over! But there can be no argument that the star who has most extra-curricular success is none other than the Chaos All-Stars captain Morg'th Nh'throg. Alongside a raft of product endorsements, he was the inventor of that wildly successful early 80s craze, 'Body Popping!'

OBITS AND PIECES

The Second Death of Humerus Carpal

Last Moonsday, after receiving a catastrophically brutal block from the Vynhheim Valkyries' burly Blitzer Ivar the Boneless, the Champions of Death's skeletal Catcher, Humerus Carpal was reduced to a pile of bones and armour. He was dead... again. You see, death for members of Tomolandry's team doesn't quite have the finality that it holds for a majority of the NAF's living players. Indeed, Tomolandry looked surprisingly upbeat as Carpal's jumbled remains were hauled back to the Champ's dug out in a sack. According to the necromancer's post-match press conference it was "only a couple of broken vertebrae" and therefore quite simple to replace.

Carpal will now spend a few weeks in 'cold storage' in the Champ's sprawling Catacombs deep within the Coldworm Mountains. During this time, Tomolandry will be preparing a suitably potent necromantic spell to re-animate Carpal, meanwhile, his network of scouts will be scouring the graveyards of the Old World searching for suitable replacement bones.

Ivar the Boneless, however, was furious, when, postgame, he was told his 'kill' wouldn't be counted towards his fatalities for the season, this was owing to the fact that Carpal was 'already dead'. In fact, it's become so hard for NAF experts to adjudicate whether an undead player has genuinely been 'killed' by the opposition, that they have stopped recording fatalities against the Champs altogether. This does not go down well with the league's more homicidal players. In fact, Grimwold Grimbreath was so indignant at having a hat-trick of fatalities invalidated last season, that demanded a face-to-face meeting with league commissioner Nikk Three-Horn, saying, 'he had a bone to pick' with the NAF supremo!

LOW EXPECTATIONS

Hobgobs Hammered

Unsurprisingly, the Hobgoblin Team have made an 0-3 start to the 2489-90 season. As usual, their opponents see a game against this hopeless team as an easy win and normally field reserve players, to let their stars have a break and avoid any unnecessary injuries inflicted by the Hobgobs' hobnail boots. This message obviously didn't get through to the Orcland Raiders, who played a full-strength team, and their stars were merciless in inflicting pain and boosting their personal statistics for the season. The final result was messy: With the Orcs running in three unanswered touchdowns, inflicting an eye-watering five fatalities, and, to compound their humiliation, the Hobgoblin Team's pitiful players had recorded -15 paces on offense! Why, then, did the Hobgoblin team celebrate at the final whistle? The answer is simple, last season the Raiders had thrashed them by the same score but had caused 10 fatalities and the Hobgob's offense had spent most of the game running the wrong way with the ball, meaning they recorded -50 paces in total offense. For the Hobgoblin Team, this represents progress!

JOHNNY BLOOD BOWL

FOLLOWING THE TRIALS AND TRIBULATIONS OF THE BLUCHEN BERSERKERS' SENSATIONAL NEW SIGNING...

The Berserker's were the laughing stock of Naggarth this week when, you guessed it, Johnny Bloodbowl (real name Johnny Man's-Hell) was seen giving the pre-match speech to his team before their game against the Nightwings - but instead of a blood curdling cry, he read them PHILOSOPHY!

Yes, the same player who scored 4 touchdowns in a first to 3 touchdown game last season was heard reading ancient texts of Elven philosophy to his bemused teammates

"Give to them nothing, but take from them everything"? Questioned his team-mate Bloody Sven. "Look, I got into Blood Bowl for the rampant violence & mayhem! If I wanted to read philosophy, I'd have just kept my old job of painting over the graffiti in the local convent toilets"

Whilst Man's-Hell might've tried to bring some culture to his team, it was Johnny BloodBowl who gave his team nothing, throwing 3 interceptions to the Nightwing's, who took everything (including a casualty) running out 3-2 winners. Up and coming Berserker (position, not the team - so the Berserker Berserker) Scyla Anfggrimm mused "Some might say his reading was truly a Man's Hell"

GAZ ATTACK!

Sports KILLERSTRATED'S
STAR COLUMNIST:
GAZBAG LINCHKER
HE'S BOLD, BRAWNY,
BRILLIANT & BRAINLESS

How happy are we all that everything back to normal! Those little beardies from the World's Edge just didn't stand a chance against the best team in the whole league (In my opinion. If you don't agree I'll fight ya). You could tell from the start of the match that Varag Ghou-Chewer was pumped up. He was very upset last week about being knocked out by a humie that nobody had ever heard of! He definitely wasn't going to let that happen two weeks in a row. He went into this game with a 'killer' attitude ha ha ha!

And not only did Varag kill three of the hairy little stunties, he took control of the game, taking up the thrower position, and getting the assist in all three scores. It looks like he is going for league MVP this year, if only something nasty would happen to Griff Oberwald. I might have to send -him a case of Scampi & Warpstone Dust crisps and see what happens.

And did you see what happened to the first ref? When he tried to tell Varag and his buddies to stop being so violent? The fan who caught the ref's head has a very good souvenir of that game, or a snack to nibble on if they were hungry ha ha ha. It was a shame that during all that ruckus the Wanderer's managed to sneak in for a score.

Orcland Raiders fans were also cheering this week with their win over The Hobgoblin Team. It was to be expected. One thing that is being talked about in the local sports bars is why are there no chaos dwarf teams in the league right now? I can't believe The Hobgoblin team is the best the lads from Zharr Naggrund have to offer for Nuffle? Or is it because they have some kind of love for playing in the lower tier world's edge super league? Widely regarded as the most boring league in the world of blood bowl, where spectators can watch cowardly armoured dwarfs shuffle backwards and forwards for three days solid until one team eventually scores.

Next week the Eye are going up against the gobbo team the Scar Crag Snivellers. It should be as easy for Gort Sever-limb to win that game as it was for me to make millions selling deep fried potato based snacks. Orcland have got more Norsemen to scrap, er, I mean, play a sports game against the Asgard Ravens. The orc team will be hoping to put their home field advantage to good use, as in, making it a giant mud swamp and drowning the humies in it ha ha ha ha. paid for, So keep buying 'em, or I'll stomp ya teef in.

FRAN FRANKOFRANKERSON REPORTS

PIERRE D'ORCAN

"Before we go back to our regular coverage of 'The Real Ogre Wives of The World's Edge Mountains', we go live via Hyper-Cabalvision to our reporter Fran Frankofrankerson, who is bringing us unprecedented casualty reports from the Reikland Reaver's game against the Underworld Creepers! Fran?"

PIERCE IT'S LIKE NOTHING THAT'S BEEN SEEN BEFORE MASS CASUALTIES IN REIKLAND WITH OVER 160 PLAYERS DEAD! THE TEAM - GONE!

FFF

"160 players? A Blood Bowl squad is only 16 players - Would you mind telling me how a Blood Bowl team can function on NEGATIVE 144 players? Especially when the NAF have put strict team limits to stop this after the Asgard Raven's killed 734 Greenfield Grasshuggers in '82?"

I DON'T KNOW PIERCE - YOU TELL ME!

I'll tell you what I think - I think you've got your maths wrong and SIXTEEN players have died. Not 160! Additionally Fran, I'm hearing reports that actually at the current time the Reaver's are actually up a casualty against the Creepers! Let me see the pitch right now Fran -

... NO ... NO YOU'RE RIGHT. REAVERS UP 1 CASUALTY AT THE MINUTE. WITH EVERYTHING TO PLAY FOR IT'S BACK TO YOU IN THE STUDIO!

"I don't believe you Fran, and in fact I'm now hearing that there's been 160 casualties due to a plague in the village of ROCKLAND. Fran, are you lying to me again? Are you even in Reikland?"

... NO.

"Fran, you're one of the worst Blood Bowl reporters the world has ever witnessed, once again you've wasted everyone's time, and I don't have the time, or the crayons to explain this to you. Do you have anything else to say?"

BLOOD BOWL?

"Thank you Fran."

RUMOUR CORNER

Dear Mother,

Thank you for the delivery of turnips - I was able to pay my wife's ransom to those dread Halfling pirates. She has returned somewhat changed, but assures me her nose will grow back.

You will be pleased to know that after my letter last week telling you of an exciting card game similar (yet legally different) to Blood Bowl, I was able to observe a game through an Ogre's legs.

Each player must enter the game with 10 gold coin, from which a flurry of wagers are placed on various outcomes of the game - from winning with a team of Elf cards, to completing a throw - if you complete the wager - you win the coin! It is up to the player if they choose not to complete the wager - yet if you don't - your opponent wins the wager instead!

I will tell you more soon, unfortunately the Ogre turned around and my eyes haven't been the same since

Your son, Trevor

-PS- We have locked the cat in the outhouse until a priest comes to perform an exorcism.

The family has not been to the toilet all week.
